

Training in Child Parent Relationship Therapy (CPRT):

A 10-Session Filial Therapy Model for groups (2 Day course endorsed by BAPT)

Saturday 19th & Sunday 20th October 2024
in High Holborn, central London

TRAINERS: LISA GORDON CLARK & MARY THORNTON

CPRT (Landreth & Bratton, 2020) is a 10-session evidence-based filial therapy model grounded in child-centered play therapy (CCPT) and based on Bernard and Louise Guerney's group filial therapy model. The 10-week group format was originally conceptualized by Landreth in the 1980's and manualised by Bratton and Landreth (2006) to provide researchers and clinicians with a tool for ensuring treatment integrity in delivering the intervention.

This intensive two-day training in the manualised CPRT model will focus on the dynamic relationship facets of training parents to be therapeutic agents in their children's lives. The 10-week CPRT group programme uses a format of didactic instruction, demonstration play sessions, weekly at-home play sessions and supervision, to teach parents basic child-centred play therapy principles and skills including: tracking, responsive listening, reflecting feelings, returning responsibility to their child, the ACT model of limit-setting, building children's self-esteem and how to structure weekly 30-minute play sessions with their children using a special kit of selected toys. CPRT's preventative nature and relatively brief treatment time frame make this treatment model attractive in today's mental health climate.

The practical 'how to' workshops include comprehensive training/treatment outlines for the 10-session CPRT programme. Participants will learn how to teach child-centred play therapy skills to parents, the toys and materials needed, techniques for involving parents in the learning process, how to balance training and meeting parents' emotional needs, utilising group dynamics, and facilitative supervision. Demonstrations, role-plays and video segments of Landreth and Bratton's CPRT parent training sessions clarify the training process.

Please note: This post-qualifying course is only suitable for practitioners with prior training and supervised practice in non-directive play therapy. Basic training and supervised experience of play therapy is a prerequisite. Evidence of qualification status will be required on applying.

NB THIS COURSE IS DELIVERED IN THE UK IN CONSULTATION WITH DR GARRY LANDRETH & DR SUE BRATTON although it is not equivalent to the Certified CPRT Practitioner offered through the 'Center for Play Therapy' in the US

Following the completion of this initial 2 day training, you will be eligible to apply for 'Approved' status as a CPRT Therapist. This will verify your competence to work as an Approved CPRT Therapist in the UK. This involves the submission to a panel of CPRT supervisors/approvers of video and written evidence of your course delivery skills, along with reflection on your practice in delivering the CPRT programme. There will be a further charge for this approval process.
